ITPUG - Italian PostgreSQL Users Group

ITPUG - Italian PostgreSQL Users Group is a non-profit association for the promotion, spreading and protection of Free Software (FLOSS) in Italy.

In particular, the ITPUG association promotes the adoption of PostgreSQL (<http://www.postgresql.org>), one of the most successful open source projects.

The association was born in Prato (PO) on November 17th, 2007, following the excellent result of the first edition of PGDay.IT (Prato, July 7th, 2007).

If PostgreSQL is a passion and / or part of your daily life, we invite you to join of the Italian community:

Be our Partner

This is an opportunity for you and your company to be a part of innovation. You will be able to promote your projects in front of a large audience, composed of the worlds largest community of representatives in PostgreSQL. There will be companies that are now approaching to the Open Source world, and companies that are already part of the PostgreSQL ecosystem.

For those that are considering to be an active part of this new adventure, we have thought of a few various partnership packages that are described below.

If you feel none of these represent your company, please contact us and we will find the right solution for you. Write an email to: pgday@itpug.org
